Greening the Classroom with Earth-Friendly School Supplies:

Sustainability can start in the classroom. Now more than ever our young must be exposed to information, alternatives and solutions that will make for a more sustainable planet. Starting good habits at a young age will make green-thinking second-nature so that once our kids are adults it will be the norm.

EcoGreenOffice is proud to announce its latest line of earth friendly school supplies. The often difficult-to-find 'green' pencils, pens, folders, notebooks, erasers and even staplers are all available at one source: EcoGreenOffice.

Parents and teachers can begin to educate their children about sustainability, and now the products are available to complement the lessons.

The green movement is starting to become mainstream and is actually considered "cool" these days. While businesses across the nation are changing their habits, so too should our schools. The easiest way? Send our future to the classroom with earth friendly school products. Now that is cool!
